

Strict grounding: a field not determined by the dialogue is left empty, never filled by inference.

The synthesized report is indistinguishable downstream — editable, and retrievable as corpus for the next question.